

JOB OF THE WEEK

What is it?

Animation Director

An animation director is either the director in charge of all aspects of the animation process during the production of an animated film or television, and animated segment for a live action film or television show, or the animator in charge of correcting layouts and drawings.

Day to day tasks

As an animation director, you will be responsible for:

- Quality of animation
- Production of segments used in both real life and animated sequences
- Managing a team that work on an animation project
- Liaising with larger companies such as Marvel, WB, DC, Dreamworks and Aardvark

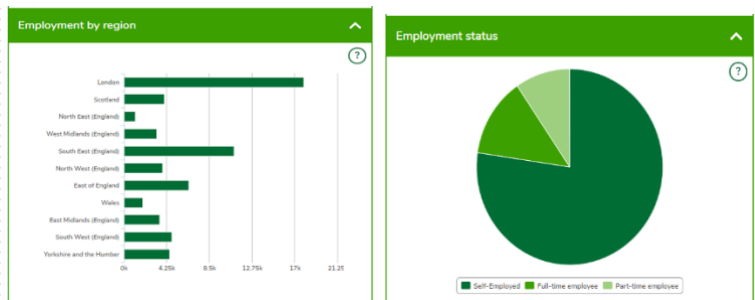

Qualifications

A variation of vocational qualifications leading to degree and Postgraduate qualifications.

Salary

An average salary for an animation director, would often fluctuate around £35,000.

Jobs and labour market

Routes into the industry

There are many different routes into industry. Apprenticeships, T level courses, volunteering, sixth form or college courses with a lead focus on Art and Design.